

Co-Organizer(s):

Local Organizer(s):

Hong Kong
Geographic
Information System
Association

THE HONG KONG INSTITUTE OF SURVEYORS
香港測量師學會

Asia GIS Conference 2026

cum IGU GISc Commission Regional Conference

20–23 October 2026 | Hong Kong | asiagis2026.org

Instructions to Authors

1. Eligibility: Only participants whose conference abstract has been ACCEPTED and who have REGISTERED successfully for Asia GIS 2026 are eligible to submit an extended abstract.
2. Word Count: 800–1000 words (main text only; excluding title, author details, keywords and references).
3. Purpose: Selected extended abstracts will be considered for potential publication in the journal Urban Informatics and other SCI-indexed journals.
4. Format: Times New Roman, 12pt, 1.5 line spacing. Keep to a maximum of 1–2 figures/tables.
5. Submission: Email the completed word file (in .docx) to secretariat@asiagis2026.org indicating your abstract ID.
6. Deadline: 30 September 2026

Co-Organizer(s):

Local Organizer(s):

Hong Kong
Geographic Information System
Association

THE HONG KONG INSTITUTE OF SURVEYORS
香港測量師學會

EXTENDED ABSTRACT TEMPLATE

Author(s):

First Name Last Name¹, First Name Last Name²

Affiliation(s):

¹Department, Institution, City, Country

²Department, Institution, City, Country

Corresponding Author Email:

name@institution.edu

Keywords:

Keyword 1; Keyword 2; Keyword 3; Keyword 4; Keyword 5

Introduction / Background

[State the research context, the problem being addressed, and the knowledge gap this study fills. Briefly cite key prior work.]

Objectives

[Clearly state the aim(s) of the study and/or the research question(s) to be answered.]

Data and Methods

[Describe the study area, data sources, and methodology/model/analytical framework used. Include software/tools if relevant.]

Results and Findings

[Present the key results. Figures and tables (max 1–2) may be included here, each with a caption and in-text reference.]

Discussion

[Interpret the results, discuss their significance, and relate them to existing literature and the stated objectives.]

Conclusion

[Summarize the main contribution of the study and suggest directions for future work.]

References

[List key references in a consistent citation style, e.g., APA. Not included in the word count.]